In partnership with members of the WCMA Education Committee and Madison College faculty, Wisconsin Cheese Makers Association has designed a training program to help new and seasoned front-line supervisors elevate their leadership skills to maximize productivity in the workplace.

This course offers a look at leadership essentials, beginning with personal assessments to determine an individual's most effective leadership style, interactive sessions on decision-making and problem-solving, as well as industry-specific discussions on how to communicate and manage conflict.

The course is suited to new supervisors and seasoned leaders that would enjoy some fresh perspectives. It is open to WCMA cheese manufacturer and processor members, as well as supplier members.

Lunch, snacks, and all course materials will be provided.
